BUT WET DAY PROMISED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3. (Exclusive)—As one storm area passed castward today, giving Northern and Central California generally a copious wetting, another one appeared in the Pacific moving rapidly on to the Coast, according to Forecaster Reed. As the lower levels got rain today, light snows fell in the mountains. At Summit the gauge showed 3 inches at 3 p.m., where there was only a trace Saturday.

The precipitation was sufficient to bring most points to their seasonal fall or better, and the forecast is for additional rain tomorrow. It will be accompanied in the extreme north and the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys by receding temperatures, the forecaster said.

MOORING BUOYS DROPPED

The Oriolan circled the air slick, dropping mooring buoys, so as to hold herself steady over the sunken submarine, preparatory to sending down divers with the air hose. It was during this operation that Chief Gunner Cunneen made fast the marker buoys bow and stern.

At 4 p.m., the Oriolan was in position over the S-29 At this time the submarine had been submerged seven hours. Being of an advanced type, she can stay down with a full crew of forty for twelve hours without change of air. By use of sods lime purifiers S-boats can stay down for 100 hours.

The S129 was fitted with eleven air hose connections. The Oriolan's salvage equipment included tremendous capacity for compressing and sending air. Had the submarine actually been disabled her personnel could have survived on the bottom for an unlimited time. The Oriolan stood ready to send soup and other food down to her through one of the air connections. It was 5:30 p.m., when the *ki-vage exercise was completed, Divers Knight and Boone having made the one air connection.

During this time all hands on the Ortolan from the crow's nest to the listening-room deep in the bows were tense with expectancy. Two motor sailing launches began sweeping operations with a wire drag as the Ortolan cruised slowly back and forth over the area, like a keennosed setter on a hot trail. Lieut. McClendon crouched over the listening gear with his radio operator, earphones on his head. He turned to the speaking tube and ordered the chief engineer to shut down the air compressors and all engines. Instantly the ship was silent. Nothing could be heard below but the soft swish of water on the bow plates. Several thousand yards to the west three destroyers maneuvered at torpedo practice. The Ortolan could hear the throb of their screws. "Tell the 8-29 to send their call taps," said the Ortolan's commander to "Sparks." The radio operator moved a switch on the oscillator board at his side and the static crackled overhead with the message. Presently there came the faint beats of a hammer on the steel huil of the 8-29. The call signal came over and over. "That's him, sir," said "Sparks."

One o'clock Gun Signal For Populace to Recite Part of Anthem LIVERPOOL, Dec. 3. (P)-

The famous 1 o'clock gun, fired here daily as a time signal, is being used now as signal for prayers for the King. Archdeacon Howson made the suggestion that the first three lines of the national anthem be recited as a prayer when the gun was fired and thousands adopted the plan today.

"We cannot all go to church," said Archdeacon Howson. "We cannot all kneel, but we can make the 1 o'clock gun a reminder to say in our hearts: 'God save our gracious King!

Meeker clung tenaciously to life until the end, holding on by sheer will power after physicians and relatives had given him up. The pioneer had been at the point of death in a Detroit hospital for two months before returning here eight weeks ago. He had grown gradually weaker and when his condition became alarming it was impossible to move him to a hospital.

He was bitterly disappointed because his illness in Detroit had prevented him from returning here in time to register for the recent general election. It was the first he had missed since he voted in the first territorial election in Washington in 1854 and he was the last known survivor of that election.

Sinclair was given a jail sentence by the District of Columbia Supreme Court, and took his case to the Court of Appeals, which after having it for several months asked instructions of the Supreme Court on five points raised in challenging his conviction.

It asked whether a witness summoned before a Congressional committee in an inquiry being conducted to aid legislation could lawfully refuse to answer questions calling for the disclosure of his private affairs; and whether the information sought by the Senate committee could lawfully be obtained only by judicial proceedings.

Their questions were whether he was justified in refusing to answer should it be found that the committee inquiry related to matters which had already been referred by Congress to the courts and had resulted in proceedings in which Sinclair was a defendant.

Whether the questions of the committee were such that their pertinency could only be determined by a jury trial or were solely questions of law for the judge, and whether Sinclair being a party to an asserted conspiracy to defraud the United States, with court proceedings instituted against him could lawfully refuse to answer questions which involved his connection with the contracts forming the basis of the court

WHITE SPOKESMAN

Representative White has announced his candidacy for the United States Senate, but that contest will not develop in Maine until 1830. Meanwhile he returns as chairman of the House Committee on Marine and Fisheries, which has charge of radio. His close relations with President-elect Hoover and his key position in the House indicate that he will be the administration spokesman on radio matters.

Senator Dill again will be on the Interstate Commerce Commission, where he played the leading role in framing the 1927 law. This commission is headed by Senator Watson, Republican, of Indians, who is being mentioned prominently for floor leader of the next Senate, to succeed Vice-President-elect Curtis.

WATSON IDENTIFIED

WATSON IDENTIFIED

Senator Watson is also closely identified with the Radio Act. His selection as floor leader would find Senator Couzens. Republican, of Michigan, the ranking member of his committee, and in line to succeed him as chairman. Senator Couzens has ideas of his own about radio, several times having introduced measures designed to establish a commission to have control over wire as well as wireless service. On the House side Mr. White's defection could not take place until the Seventy-first Congress had done most of its work, so that his leadership in radio in that chamber will continue. Representative Lehibach of New Jersey is the ranking Republican, and Representative Davis of Tennessee is the ranking Democrat on his committee. Both will be in the next Congress. Mr. Lehibach has taken an active part in radio legislation, and Mr. Davis has been leader of an exceedingly vigorous minority of the House committee.

DAVIS ACTIVE

DAVIS ACTIVE

It was Representative Davis who wrote the equalization amendment requiring the Federal Radio Commission to divide wave lengths and power equally among the several zones and among the several zones and among the several zones and among the several reproportionately to their population. This led to the recent broadcast reallocation, against which surprisingly little criticism has been heard among returning members of both houses.

among returning members of both houses,

It is evident that the most to be expected from the short session in matters of radio is a continuance of the Radio Commission for perhaps another year, although Senator Dill and Representative Davis declare that it will make little difference in its powers if it does become an appeal board as prescribed by the present law. Both have indicated that they intend to take the commission to task for some of its policies and actions.

The interest in radio awakened on Capitol Hill is evident from the personal appearances recently of Senators Norris of Nebraska, Walsh of Montana, Brookhart of Iowa and Glenn of Illinois at the hearing on WENR, Chicago, and of Speaker Longworth Senator Fass of Obje Glenn of Illinois at the hearing on WENR, Chicago, and of Speaker Longworth, Senator Fess of Ohio and Senator-elect Burton of Ohio at the hearing on WSAI, Cincinnat. At other hearings previously held many other members of both houses attended and testified. During the summer and fall members of Congress have been incessant visitors at the commission's headquarters both for the public hearings and for private conferences.

The Low Cost Will Surprise You!

FEW MEN can stand the steady grind of work after they've reached their 65th milestone. It's a time when they should take life easy—a time to retire if not in robust health. But how many can stop at 65 and live on their accumulated income? Here's what statistics say:

At age of 65, from a total of 100 average Americans, 36 have died, 5 are well-to-do, 5 live on their earnings and 54 are not self supporting. But you need not be one of the 54. Men who think of the future buy insurance which provides an income through their declining years. It's the sound, sensible thing to do. And it's easy.

You simply allot a definite percent of your monthly income toward the purchase of "5 way" insurance—just as you can buy your home or other possessions. Now is the time to decide. Why not join the more than 50,000 other men in Southern California who will "take it easy" when they reach their gray hair days?

Note at left the other ways you can benefit from "5 way" insurance which this 60 year old company is featuring in its Diamond Anniversary Year.

Detroit Grand Jury Hears Rum Scandal Details

Investigators Tell of System of Protection "Trust"

Fleeing Bootleggers Crowd Ontario's Hostelries

DETROIT, Dec. 3. (Exclusive)-While approximately 1500 men passed through the office of the United States Civil Service commissioner today applying for positio toms agents and other investigators.

The customs officer-grafters, according to evidence, drew up a "payoff schedule" under which regular rates were assessed against rum runners for the privilege of transporting liquor across the river while the customs agents absented themselves.

Investigators were told that the schedule ordinarily was at the rate of 25 cents a base for beer and $1
a case for whisky.

VARYING RATES

"The protection rate" varied, however, running sometimes as high as 29% cents a case for beer and $1.37 a case for whisky. In holiday rush seasons the whisky rate has been known to be advanced to $2 a case, it was said.

It was revealed that the "union" conducted investigations before accepting new "members."

"A new patrol inspector, shortly after joining the union, was questioned as to his previous work record and the 'union' decided whether the new man could fit into the 'union." One of the investigators said:

"One veteran patrol inspector gave the official OK in accepting a new man into the graft cycle."

When new patrol inspectors were added to the unit here they were assigned with veterans. A new man was paired with an older service inspector on the theory that a veteran could demonstrate to the new-comer how not to enforce customs laws.

The story of graft among the inspectors is being read from their bank books, which have been examined by the government. One inspector is asserted to have made weekly deposits averaging $500. Others apparently managed to hide their graft earnings in various ways.

The "union" varied its graft scule in accordance with general conditions along the river, it was revealed.

A rebate would be granted a rumrunning ring which provided information leading to the arrest and seizure of liquor conveyed by rum runners who preferred attempting to sneak boats across the 'iver rather than pay tribute, according to the disclosures.

The graft, the investigator said, also extended to those attempting to transport liquor from a "plant' to blind pigs in Detroit. A plant is a secret hiding place for smuggled liquor. Thus the patrol inspectors received double "fees," one for permitting the liquor to come to this side without interference and the other for allowing bootleggers to haul liquor from the plant.

"FREE NIGHT" INNOVATION

As a part of the arrangement the importer usually would agree to tip off the inspectors to runners availing themselves of the clear river, but not in on the blanket payment. With the $303,266 available for the current fiscal year work will be pushed in widening the $500-foot channels in Pinole shoal and Mare Island Strait to the 800-foot width authorized and for maintenance. It is estimated one-half of the new work will be completed by June 30, 1929 with a monthly expenditure of about $25,000.

Crescent City Harbor: With $135,701 for new work and $97,500 for maintenance it is proposed during the present fiscal year to complete the concrete cap which will restore the crest of the existing breakwater and accomplish approximately 50 per cent of the restoration of the side slopes. About 200 feet of the extension can be built with the funds remaining. With the £252,500 for maintenance it is proposed during the fiscal year beginning July 1, next to complete the breakwater to its full project length of 3000 feet and to complete repairs on the 2245 feet of breakwater constructed prior to 1826. Umpqua River: $380,000 principally for work on the north jetty. The work on the jetty has not been sufficient to benefit navigation by increased depth across the ocean bar, but has increased the depth of the river channel to the sea end of the jetty and has fixed the direction of the channel across the bar to some distance beyond the sea end of the jetty. There is now deep water ta the sea end of the jetty and the distance across the ocean bar from deep water in the river to deep water in the ocean is about 4000 feet. A survey of the bar made in July, this year, showed a controlling depth of twelve feet in a channel about 400 feet wide. The bar conditions are not quite so good as they were last year. The controlling depth of twelve feet in a channel about 400 feet wide. The bar conditions are not quite so good as they were last year. The controlling depth is two feet less, and the channel across the bar is only one-half the width of a year ago.

Ship Frees Self From Rock Trap

PORTLAND (Or.) Dec. 3. (#)—
The steamship Samoa piled up on the rocks off Tillamook Bay late today, and after sending out a distress call canceled the order for assistance, but asked ships to stand by for further developments.

American exporters "are placed at a serious disadvantage with those of competing countries," he said, by termination of the parcel-post convention with Cuba. Cuba refused to extend the agreement, he pointed out, because Congress would not repeal the law prohibiting importation of cigars and cigarettes in quantities of less than 3000 to the package. He termed the law "obnoxious and archaic" and said "it is hoped that Congress will at the forthcoming session realize how unnecessary and objectionable the present law is and how contrary it is to the real interests of our people."

CHANGES URGED

The distress call was followed fifteen minutes later with a message from the Samoa that she had got lear of the rocks, but was taking water. The message concluded with a request to all ships in the vicinity to stand by until an estimate of damage could be made.

A Generous Gesture Is No Guarantee of True Value

WHENEVER long trading allowances are offered, as they will be, to lure you from your allegiance to Cadillac or La Salle you can be certain that this method of selling is necessitated by the lesser value of competitive cars.

Just a moment's reflection makes it perfectly clear that no car can be successfully substituted for either Cadillac or La Salle and, therefore, the lure of long trading allowances, or any other method of competitive salesmanship will fail to sway you if you truly want all that Cadillac-La Salle offer.

It is scarcely necessary to mention Cadilloc-La Salle prestige or one's pride in possessing either of these cars. Certainly it is fruitless to suggest that any other car equals them on this score. Just as certainly they stand alone in beauty, in spite of vain but understandable attempts to imitate their style.

Again, there are no cars in all the world so safe to drive or so easy to master under any conditions of road, grade or traffic. For in no other cars can you shift gears so quickly and so easily, because no others have the new Cadillac-La Salle Syncro-Mesh Silent-Shift Transmission, which is almost instantaneous in action as well as clashless in operation.

No other cars have brakes that are so powerful, yet so velvet-like in grip, or that operate with so slight cars have the new Cadillac-La Salle Duplex-Mechanical Effortless Four-Wheel Brakes, the most effective braking system ever developed. Nor have any other cars developed a steering mechanism to an equal degree of ease.

Then add to these advantages the Cadillac-La Salle crystal clear, nonshatterable Security-Plate Glass which forever removes the hazard of flying glass fragments and you have features of safety that are of priceless value to you and your family.

It is really very easy to appraise the field of fine cars and confirm your own impression that, after all, there is nothing that can possibly equal Cadillac or the Cadillac-built La Salle in beauty, safety, ease, performance or value.

However generous the trading allowance offered on behalf of some other car, you know that, were you to yield, the money could in no way compensate for all that you would about forty miles distant from the nearest railway line passing through It is the passing through the one referred to in HR5773, is of the gravity type, curved in plan with allowable stresses as high a story tons per square foot.

POSSIBILITY TOLD

It is the opinion of the board that a dam of the gravity type is suitable to 1000 feet above the river and the rock gorge is at least 150 feet deep below low-water level. It is 420 feet wide at the low-water line and the maximum stresses allowed do not have the plans and estimates of cost should include provision for the control and handling of a considerable. While a power house must be fitted to a particular site and its deep below low-water level. It is 420 feet wide at the low-water line and mountable difficulties.

The canyon walls at this site rise to 1000 feet above the river and the rock gorge is at least 150 feet deep below low-water level. It is 420 feet wide at the low-water line and approximately 1020 feet wide at the creat of a dam that would impound 25,000,000 acre feet of water.

The foundation rock is granite and associated granitic rock of excellent quality. Regular joints and more irregular fractures are very numerous, and there is an occasional fault zone. These weaknesses are prominent on the weathered surface, but test tunnels prove that they are of little consequence to within a few feet from the surface. On the whole, the rock is strong, substantial, durable and the whole mass is essentially tight. It will stand well in tunneling. There is no danger of the rock failing to meet requirements as a dam foundation.

MATERIALS NEAR BY exceed those adopted in standard practice.

The proposed dam would be by far the highest yet constructed and would impound 25,000,000 acre-feet of water. If it should fall the flood created probably would destroy Needles, Topock, Parker, Blythe, Yums and permanently destroy the levees of the Imperial district, creating a channel into Salton Sea which probably would be so deep that it would be impracticable to re-establish the Colorado River in its normal course. To avoid such possibilities the proposed dam should be constructed on conservative if not ultra-conservative lines.

Maximum foundation and structural stresses have until late years been limited in the best practice to about twenty tons per square foot. Until perhaps twenty years ago this The foundation rock is transite and associated grantific rock of excellent quality. Regular joints and successful granting receives are very minimum, and the successful granting the inglinet system of the successful granting and deliver the valiable water for cellent quality. able for the site in question and that such a dam built across Black Canyon would be safe, provided the maximum stresses allowed do not exceed those adopted in standard

The board is of the opinion that the plans proposed are feasible from an engineering standpoint. Questions of cost will be considered in another part of the report entitled "Estimates."

City Attorney Questions Rights in Case

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. S. (P.

An application was before the application was before the Manmeds Supervisors today from Montgomery K. Miller, Oakland engineer, who is sponsoring plans for a $65,000,000 high-level bridge, the plans for which are similar to those rejected by San Prancisco engineers several months ago. Miller's bridge would be privately financed and privately owned.

While the Alameds County Supervisors are favorable to the plan, made action was taken today.

Miller's move brought to the fore the legal question as to which county, San Prancisco or Alameda, has the legal right to grant a permit to bridge the bay.

City Attorney O'Toole of San Prancisco said:

"The code clearly provides that the right to grant a franchise of this character lies with the county resting on the left bank descending the stream."

A word that has a Big Meaning to Every Cement User

HAT is the meaning of "Plasticity"? In simple, every-day language it means "easy workability." It signifies that a given material flows readily, adapting itself quickly and accurately to the mold or to any form which the trowel or other tool gives it.

Monolith Plastic Waterproof Portland Cement is PLASTIC to an unusual degree. Because of this quality, stucco plaster made with Monolith can be applied much easier and with a twentyfive per cent saving in time as compared with ordinary cement.

And this extra plasticity also makes Monolith concrete str er and more compact. It makes it adhere more powerfully to lathing, steel rods or other reinforcing. And the resulting wall is stronger, more enduring and more beautiful, since—when properly applied—Monolith concrete is absolutely free from voids or cracks.

Facts about Monolith

MONOLITH meets all the standard specification portland cement and is mixed in the same way.

Monolith makes cement plaster so highly workable that a plasterer can spread it easily with 25% greater speed. Monolith adheres to re-inforcing steel with much greater tenacity than regular cement.

Waterproofness is ground into every particle of Mon-lith. It is unequalled for stucco walls, foundations, re-taining walls, reservoirs, swimming pools, fish pond conduits, dams, vats, silos—any construction demanding superior strength and absolute waterproofness.

The dangerous fallacies of high yields and quick profits

NDER the influence of current speculative tendencies, the buying of securities for high yields or quick ms has become customary among many heretofore ervative investors.

Many people apparently have lost sight of these two

- (a) That in market trading or any other form of speculation, the chances are overwhelmingly against the investor, and
- (b) That any security whose yield or enhancement possibilities are greater than those permitted by the prevailing standards of safety, is unquestionably hazardous in direct ratio to those apparent potentialities.

There is no way of "beating the game."

There is no form of speculation or high-yield investt; which, over any considerable period of time, can al the returns from sound investment consistently

In the field of high-grade investments, interest rates change slowly over long periods or cycles. We are now a cycle of low interest rates—a condition which must be recognized by any investor who seeks safety of prinal and certainty of income. These rates are very definitely established by the buying power of the investing public, by underlying economic conditions, and by the various collateral influences.

An investment which conforms to certain standards of safety yields a certain commensurate interest return; ind any investor who seeks a higher return must accept a lower standard of safety.

Many investors attempt to gain safety through resification, but diversification alone cannot provide ty. This fact is constantly demonstrated by the us losses experienced by the holders of diversified ecurities when liquidation becomes necessary.

The fallacy of seeking new ways to increase the m or rental value of money beyond prevailing rates, costing investors untold millions every year in losses dinterest or principal or both.

There is just one way to avoid all risk, responsibility and care, namely, to purchase only those forms of init which provide every known safeguard of both rincipal and interest.

Among such forms of investment the Insured First rigage Certificates of the Mortgage Guarantee Commy are preeminent by virtue of the fact that they are ot only safeguarded by the highest type of real estate curity, but also insured as to both principal and farmers and Merchants Bank Bldg.

Real estate is the basic form of security, and now under the Mortgage Insurance system of State-approved appraisals, insured titles, etc., the system of issuing Insured First Mortgage Certificates, as developed by the Mortgage Guarantee Company, has provided the ultimate degree of safety and certainty of yield.

There is no longer any need for any investor, individual or institution, to incur losses of either principal or interest through the purchase of unsound securities.

This fact is especially important when coupled with the further fact that the returns from money invested safely and systematically invariably surpass the spasmodic profits from speculative operations. Hence the fallacies of high yields and quick profits. .

Insured First Mortgage Certificates, as issued by the Mortgage Guarantee Company, represent actual pro rata ownership in a group of first liens on improved California real estate, widely diversified as to locality. These comprise first trust deeds on improved residential and income property exclusively.

Not only are these liens at all times protected by select, improved properties whose aggregate low appraisal values are more than double the amount of the deposited liens and of the Certificates issued against them, but they are also insured as to both principal and interest under the Mortgage Insurance Act of the State of California.

Insured First Mortgage Certificates of the Mortgage Guarantee Company are legal investment for banks, insurance companies and trust funds and are widely purchased for institutional investment, not only in California but throughout the United States.

They are tax-free in California and yield the highest return consistent with the exceptional protection afforded. Interest is paid by check quarterly or semiannually as elected by the holder.

They are issued in one, two, three, four and five-year maturities in denominations of $100 and multiples thereof, and are registered in the names of the owners.

Arrangement may be made at time of pu whereby, in the event of the owner's death, a certain portion of the Certificates held by the Estate may be immediately converted into cash at full face value plus accrued interest, to provide the funds for administrative expenses. This eliminates the possible necessity of liquidating securities in a dull market at a serious sacrifice.

These Insured First Mortgage Certificates, we believe, should be included among the holdings of every institution and every private investor.

taken out of respect to the several members who have died since last session.

The day served to bring under one roof again old friends who went forth in the recent national campaign under different colors. But if serious wounds from the election strife were left, they were not revealed in the warm handshakes of the day.

Senator Curtis and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, who fought for the Vice-Presidential post, were among the first to greet each other in the Senate. As leaders there of their respective parties, they found themselves together on the committee appointed by Vice-President Dawes to inform the President that Congress was in session.

The two members of each party who left their respective standards to support the Presidential nominee of the opposition were present—Senator Nortis of Nebraska and Bialmons of North Carolina, and Heflin of Alabama, Democrats.

SENATORS SMILE

Senators Simmons and Heflin were smiling and if any hard feelings are held against them by their colleagues they were not displayed. The veteran Simmons went about the chamber on both sides of the aisle shaking hands. He stopped to speak a few words to Senator Robinson, the running-mate of Gov. Smith, whom Simmons fought so hard. They shook hands warmly. Senator Heflin, his broad shoulders protruding above his colleagues and his booming voice and chuckle resounding, was the center of a group of Senators, Republicans as well as Democrats.

Reaching the chamber just ahead of the opening hour Senator Norris, who supported Gov. Smith, ceated himself as customarily beside Senator Borah, who went up and down the land campaigning for Herbert Hoover. They spoke to each other. It was only a year ago SENATORS SMILE

CITRUS GROWERS PROFIT

California Industry Contributes Large Total to State's Prosperity; Efficiency Shown

BY EARLE E. CROWE

While speculative excitement in the security markets may give the impression that the only people making money are the traders and the investors, the recent annual report of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange is a pertinent reminder of the continuing prosperity of Cali-fornia agriculturalists. The citrus industry, in fact, is one of the main vertebrae in the backbone of the State's economic strength.

More than $130,000,000 was reers in the 1927-28 crop year, just ended, based on the results of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange. The delivered value of the crop in of $165,000,000. COSTS HELD DOWN

What the profits were to the grow-ers is indicated by the cost figures of the exchange, which handles 75 per cent of the California crop. Inof the exchange, which handles to per cent of the California crop. Including operating costs, marketing and advertising, the members of this co-operative sold their fruit at a cost of 230 per cent of the delivered value, and 2.92 per cent of the flob. returns. This is less than the charge of any competing agency for marketing alone.

The exchange's report on credit losses not only discloses the infinitesimal hazard the citrus grower runs in selling his fruit, but serves as an object lesson to other agriculturalists of the efficiency in marketing of the rightly managed co-operatives. Bad accounts charged off in the last season amounted to only 157-10,000 of 1 per cent of the net returns. In the last wenty-four years credit losses have amounted to only 59-10,000 of 1 per cent of the flob. returns. This is a record of which any business concern would boast.

Advertising has been the impelling force behind the world-wide increase in the popularity of citrus fruits, and to this medium of sales promotion the California citrus growers owe a tremendous debt. Here, again, is an example to other agriculturalists, particularly those complaining of difficult times.

Guy Witter, resident manager and partner of Dean Witter & Co., in Los Angeles, has been elected a member of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, Norman B. Courteney, secretary and manager of the exchange, announced yesterday.

Mr. Witter started his brokerage and investment banking career with secretary and manager of the exchange and $6,800,486, or $5.25 a share, in the 1927 quarter. This was probably the largest three months on record.

As only $5,372,851, or $1,96 a share, was earned in the first six months of the fiscal year, the total net for the year probably exceeded $19,000,000, it is believed, or $7 a share, against $22,570,745, or $3.30 a share, in the 1927 fiscal year.

NGLO-CALIFORNIA TRUST CO.

Mr. W. B. Reis, president of the Corporation, summarizes his letter of November 28, 1928, to us as follows:

Business: El Dorado Oil Works was incorporated in 1904, succeeding the El Dorado Linseed Oil Works, which was organized in 1892. The company has for many years been engaged in the manufacture of cocoanut oil and meal. The company's products are standard basic commodities and are sold in advance of manufacture to the capacity of the plant. Raw material is purchased against forward sales which minimizes inventory risk. The company's output is largely taken by the leading soap manufacturers of the country and is sold on a basis that involves a minimum of credit risk.

El Dorado Oil Works is the largest producer of cocoanut oil in America, and one of the largest in the world, and has done much to make the United States the world's largest producer of that product. The "Snowflake" brand of this company commands the highest price in the market today owing to its very excellent quality. The company's present assets and business have been developed from a small initial capital and otherwise entirely from earnings.

Assets: The net worth of the company after giving effect to this financing will be in excess of $2,652,588. No value is attributed to good will and physical assets are shown at depreciated book values which should be substantially increased in the event of a re-appraisal of assets. The net current assets are $2,003,822.89. The ratio of current assets to current liabilities Earnings: The net earnings of the company, as prepared by Messra. Price, Waterhouse & Co., from the books of the company, and after all charges including depreciation and Federal taxes, are as follows:

$256,804 508,758 455,156 In the above statement of earnings no effect has been given to the proceeds of this financing.

The business has been operated at a profit during all but one of the last 20 years. Purpose of Issue: The funds derived from this financing will be used for the construction of a new plant and for other corporate purposes. It is estimated that the new plant will effect a material saving in handling charges alone on the present volume of business and will, in addition, substantially increase plant capacity.

Management: The officers and directors are W. B. Reis, president; G. D. Lucy, vice-president; DuVal Moore, vice-president; W. F. Williamson, vice-president; S. M. Haslett, secretary; W. H. T. Huie, treasurer; R. H. Swayne and Kenneth A.

No change in management is contemplated. The present management has been identified with the conduct of the business for many years and owns a large majority of the outstanding stock.

Dividends: The directors have stated their intention to place this stock on an annual dividend basis of $1.50 per share, payable quarterly, on March 1, June 1, September 1 and December 1.

During the five-year period ended October 31, 1928, the company has paid an average dividend equal to $1.56 per share per annum on the present capitalization.

New Educational Center

Prophecy of future of Bel-Air by State official based on comparison with other similar developments

NOT so many years ago the University Campus at Berkeley was on the outskirts of habitation, along the base of the beautiful Berkeley foothills. Its red brick buildings £00d out against the green of the hills and the blue of the skies. Now the campus is completely surrounded by the modern City of Berkeley with its £0re and office £ructures, public buildings and lovely tree-lined residential £reets.

I imagine a somewhat similar experi-ence is ahead of the new Campus of the University of California at Westwood, except that this new campus will be crowned by Bel-Air. On the hills above Westwood will always remain this lovely private park, with its picturesque golf course and club house, palatial homes, artistic gardens and scenic drives. It is a situation which firs the imagination. While the land on other sides of the University grounds may be given over to the ordinary suburban development, Bel-Air will always remain Bel-Air ... a beautiful background for a beautiful university.

To the Stockholders

LOCKHEED AIRCRAFT COMPANY:

You are hereby advised that at the stockholders meeting of the Lockheed Aircraft Company held on November 24, 1928, at Las Vegas, Nevada, the charter of the Company was so amended as to increase the number of shares of common stock without par or nominal value from 25,000 to 150,000 of record on December 15, 1928, will be issued five stock allotment warrants for each share of stock standing of record in his or her name. Each of the stock allotment warrants will give to the stockholder, or his assigns, the right to purchase one share of such common stock at ($6.00) Six Dollars per share.

The option to purchase such stock will expire on December 30, 1928, and the full purchase price of the stock must be paid and the stock allotment warrant surrendered by that date, or the warrant becomes void and of no further force and effect.

These stock allotment warrants when issued will be transferable, and the option therein contained can be exercised by the assignee.

For the purpose of determining who are the stockholders, the books of the Company will be closed at midnight on Friday, December 14, 1928, and will open again for transfer on Monday, December 17, 1928. No stock will be accepted for transfer during the period of time that the books are closed. It is the intention of the Company to mail to each stock-holder his stock allotment warrant during the time that the books of the Company are closed for transfer, and it is of the utmost importance to yourself that your stock be in your own name, so that you may receive the stock allotment warrant; also, that the Company has your correct address. If you are likely to be out of town at the time the stock allotment warrants are to be mailed, you should either advise the Company of your temporary address or you should arrange for someone to receive the stock allotment warrant for you.

The Company believes these stock allotment warrants to be of considerable value, and does not wish any stockholder to be deprived of his right to receive them through his or her failure or neglect, and we therefore again urge you to be sure that your stock is in your own name and that the Company has your correct address.

All changes in addresses should be mailed to the Secretary, Ben S. Hunter, 816 Pacific Mutual Building, Los Angeles, California.

Yours very truly, cont a month for the current year to date, reports were circulated in the financial district that Federal Land Value Insurance Company plans an offering of stock to the public in the near future.

When the company wrote its first policy in June of 1926, its assets were $115.000. They are placed today at $643.000 with policies in force aggregating $7.250.000 and contracts from subdividers for $20,-000,000 in addition. The company is operated under the jurisdiction of the State Insurance Commissioner and must maintain reserves similar to those for organizations handling life, fire and other forms of insurance. Its policy to date has been to center its business in the larger centers of population, offices now being maintained in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Oakland. Now entering the eastern field, the company will continue the policies it found to its benefit in California and will confine itself also to realestate insurance only.

Mme. Halide, the Turkish woman crusader, evidently has lost nothing in results oy approaching social problems from the simple oriental rather than from the western complicated method of procedure. There has never been a feminist movement in Turkey, she asserts, only a combination of both sexes for the advance of both. And she adds, "Progress naturally emancipates women." Possibly she may be right. It has done so in Turkey at any rate. This suggests a subject for debate: Did we need a special feminist movement in ed a special feminist movement in

COLD INDIFFERENCE

It has been charged in Shanghai that before the Washington conference Japan made love to China by using caveman tactics. Japan used the big stick as a means of increasing the affection of these Chinese for the island empire. But this method has been a flat failure, and now Japan is said by the Shanghai press to be treating China with cold indifference. In other words, Japan has decided that she doesn't need Japan has decided that she doesn't need China anyway. She is getting ready to move out of Shantung in a few months. The embarking of her troops will be hailed with delight at Nanking.

THE TIMES" BIRTHDAY

With this issue the Los Angeles Times begins the forty-eighth year of its service to the people of Los Angeles and Southern California. On December 4. 1881, a handful of printed sheets, drawn from a press that, by modern standards, would be judged incredibly creaky and slow. marked the birth, in a community of 12,000 souls, of what has become the largest newspaper in the world, in a city of 1,300,000.

It is not, however, in its own mere size that The Times takes pride, except so that The Times takes pride, except so far as that serves as an index of and proof of its usefulness. The Times is proud of the many projects for the public benefit that it has initiated and fought for to a successful conclusion; it is proud of its efforts to improve the public service, local, State and national, which sometimes have borne fruit and sometimes not; and it is proudest of all of the success that has attended its efforts to give its public a true and honestly-interpreted daily history of the world, an accurate picture of current life upon which its readers can depend as a basis for their own activities. The Times is the first to realize that that success has not been absolute; with the best equipment in the world no newspaper can present a picture that is not fragmental and to some extent distorted; but mental and to some extent distorted; but at least the distortion need not proceed from willful intent, and in The Times office it does not.

The Times has the best staff of news gatherers and writers that it can assem-ble, the best wire and picture services that it can obtain, and tries to place that it can obtain, and tries to place emphasis always upon quality rather than quantity. That the product appeals to a wider circle of readers each year, that Times circulation more than keeps pace with the growth of the community, is pleasing evidence to its publishers that its efforts to keep faith with the public are appreciated. With a circulation that is 96 per cent home-delivered The Times has a distinct advantage in this regard over papers that are sold chiefly on street corners, since it does not require a daily sensation, either real or manufactured, to maintain a high average.

does not require a dally sensation, either real or manufactured, to maintain a high average.

Its policy of conservative treatment of crime news is both made practical by and aids in producing this quality circulation. It is enabled to avoid window dressing and conscious distortion because its readers have learned not to judge it by the top half of the first page of a single issue alone; they put it to the test of months and years of steady reading; and it is proud to be able to stand such a test. Its circulation gain during the year just past was greater, both numerically and proportionately, than that of any other comparable paper, a fact which is valuable only as evidence of intrinsic merit.

For forty-seven years The Times has striven to merit the complete confidence of its readers. It is difficult to find a yardstick for such an intangible as confidence; trust cannot be weighed and measured except by approximation. It may be inferred, however, from continued patronage and from such general indications as the fact that in the last election its recommendations on twenty-one State propositions were indorsed by the voters in eighteen cases, including all of those of major importance, while its recommendations on candidates were indorsed practically 100 per cent.

For the future, The Times pledges that

For the future, The Times pledges that this confidence, which it considers its greatest asset, will not be diminished by any act of its own; that it will continue, any act of its own; that it will continue, to the best of its ability, to make its presentation of news and comment thereon full, free and fair; that where improvements are possible it will make them, and that it will do its best to live up to its conception of what a newspaper should be. It will continue, among other things, to fight for law observance, for true industrial freedom, for equal rights and opportunities, and for liberty under law. It will make such contributions as it can to the spiritual and tions as it can to the spiritual and physical progress of the community and its material welfare.

Misery and Company

It's an old saying that misery loves company. But the trouble is that misery generally is too self-centered and self-conscious to see how much company it has. DISGUISING A NUISANCE The new scheme of the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company for putting a disguised cement plant into the Santa Monica Mountains, within a few hundred feet of fine residence and educational developments, is nearly as ob-jectionable as the scheme proposed a few months ago, which roused such a storm of protest that it was withdrawn. By the new plan, this company proposes to quarry limestone in the hills, crush it to powder, mix it with water, and pump the mixture to a point half a mile offshore from Santa Monica Bay, where it is to be loaded into barges and taken to San Pedro to be made into cement. Since the War Department considers since the war bepartment considers only the interests of navigation in such matters, and since the pipe line may not be considered an obstruction to navigation, the permit may be granted and the fight against this men W The silk worm has given its coat to probably have to be carried on elsewhere.

That it is a menace hardly needs demonstration. It is impossible to carry on quarrying and rock-crushing operadust. A rock-crushing plant, particularly one grinding such a fine grist as this one, inevitably fills the surrounding air for miles with an impalpable dust which settles upon everything. It cannot be considered as a desirable neighbor by anyone, and it is a distinctly un-desirable neighbor for such institutions desirable neighbor for such institutions as the new University of California at Los Angeles, the new Occidental College, the proposed Pacific Palisades University, the California Botanic Gardens, the cities of Santa Monica and Beverly

The mere fact that the final steps in the cement-making process are to be carried out elsewhere makes little difference. The new plan does obviate the trucking nulsance that the old would have created, but that is all.

Indeed, it introduces one new objec tion, that its operations would require a ly be spared for such a purpose. Certainly the city of Los Angeles should furnish no water for such a purpose at any price.

Officer Foote Carries On

One of the most interesting spots in Los Angeles in rainy weather is the corner of Sixth and Los Angeles streets, where there is a flood every time there is a real rain, and Police Officer G. A. Foote gallarity carries the women over the raging waters.

Women used to dread that crossing in wet weather, for it was no place for foot passengers. But Foote passengers—that's different. Now many a stenographer or filing clerk working in that vicinity goes out of her way a block or two just for the thrill of being carried by the stalwart officer. And he bears up under his burdens like a man. "Two been married only five months," he says, "but my wife is a good sport, so I go right ahead."

But it isn't only the young and good-looking that Officer Foote carries. He often carries old ladies out and puts them on street cars, or carries them half a

There is no real need for the commercial development of this limestone deposit. California has plenty of limestone suitable for cement making, in other localities where its quarrying is unobjectionable. Industrial development, in the industrial portion of this city, is welcomed; but industrial development in a residence area is not wanted

I INHAPPY WOMEN

That popular song, "I Can't Make Her Happy," strikes a responsive chord in the breast of many a lover and hus-band. Why women of today are unhappy has been the subject of much discussion of late in magazine and newspaper articles. In the December number of the Forum Mrs. Bertrand Russell says that present-day women are happier than were their grand-mothers, but Mrs. Corra Harris says they are not. It seems to be a matter of point of view. The woman who looks about her for happiness in simple, wise ways will get it, while the one who has not learned to bound to be unhappy.

I glance at the market reports
Then turn with an avider eye
To the murders, the movies and sports Which have some little thrills to supply.

No interest I take in the news
That the ticker brings clickingly in;
I haven't a dollar to lose
And I haven't a dollar to win.

My friends may exultingly cry
Or despairingly rock to and fro
When some stock has attained a high

Or has sagged to another new low But-I have no tremor of dread Lest the market may suddenly break, For, as I have already said. I haven't a penny at stake.

Without any fluttering heart I follow my prosaic trade And take not a thought for the mart Where fortunes are shattered or made. Running chances is most indiscreet And gambling is risky and rash But the reason I'm not in the Street
Is because I have not got the cash!

In addition to the various runs of job printing there was a regular series of weekly newspapers that had to be gotten through—whether or no.

There was the Weekly Mirror, the company's own product; La Cronica, the organ of, the Spanish—speaking population; L'Union Nouvelle, the French weekly; the Tidings, the organ of the Catholic diocese of Los Angeles and Monterey, besides "patent insides" for Pasadena, Riverside and other outside towns.

All of the regular weeklies required two runs, the first side Tuesday afternoon or evening, the second side Friday afternoon or evening. They had to be ready for mailing early Saturday morning—though in addition to a good-sized mailing list, the Weekly Mirror was delivered to the city subscribers by carrier.

The first pressman who ran The Times was one Kelly—who, so tradition says, would sometimes try to run the paper so wet that the water would run down from the feed board on to the forms and ink plate. LIONS BANK ON BACKFIELD

Yancey, Brown, Smith and McKee All Rate as Scoring Threats; Touchdown Honors Divided

BY BOB RAY

One of the main reasons why Compton fans believe that Coach Earl (Deacon) Pine's Lions will check the spectacular winning streak of the Alhambra Moors next Saturday at the Coliseum is because of their brilliant backfield combination. Although Tom Yancey is rated as the McKee and Porky Smith, the other members of the foursome, are almost as consistent at advancing the football.

Of the 186 points rolled up bye Compton in seven Bay League games, the Lion backs divided up the scoring homors pretty evenly. In fact it was Brown and not Yancey who copped high-point honors, the Lion captain accounting for 48 digits with eight touch do w in s while his fleet-footed partner chalked up 42 points on seven sallies across the enemies' goal lines. McKee also so cored 42 points, but 18 of his were achieved through the medium of place-kicks on touchdowns in the seven league contests.

When a backfield splits up its scoring like that the opposition can not "spot" one man, for the minute they do the other sore of the minute they do the other solution on seven and if the "Gallioping Ghost" had a weakness then so must have Mohler, argue the Lion enthusiasts.

SHOWING OF STANFORDITES TOOK ALL THE KICK OUT OF FOOTBALL AS EAST PLAYS IT

Cornell, Syracuse, Prince-nn State or the boys of Yale, heir one-play-at-the-line and

At the trades union meeting of the coaches I have heard this spir-it deplored and it seems possible that when Mr. Warner brought his team to New York he made a spe-cial effort to lick the second best team in the East and lick them good, as a matter of personal sat-efaction

But even conceding that Stan-ford was at the moment the best team the Pacific Slope could put on the field, there should have been no such difference between these boys and the second best in the East if the West Point boys had been playing football.

That appears to be the point. One of these teams was playing and the other was playing and moderately deceptive game, but five minutes after they started against Stanford they were utterly lost in an absolutely new realm of football. They saw strange customs and while they were wondering at the unfamiliar practices of the Far West, the large rough boys in white jerseys would slam into them, knock them down and parade over them.

The Army continues are noted.

of course, I suspect that finderd's team is rated as a right smart football team, even in California, and that in the Army game the long, limber, agile young men from the Hearme-slope played a little beyond their normal capacity just as Notre Dame did in beating the Army a few weeks ago.

Mr. Gienn Warner, who coached the boys, used to operate in this section and there was not only his stipend of $30,000 a year or thereabouts to consider, he being the most highly paid of all the coaches, but something else.

Mr. Warner is remembered here as one who operated within the written rules of football, but just be written rules of football, but just the Cadets stood for physical endurance of the Army and civiliant eams I done know. I had thought that the Cadets stood for physical perfection and had heard sad civiliant eams I do not know. I had thought that the Cadets stood for physical perfection and had heard sad civiliant eams I done know. I had thought that the Cadets stood for physical perfection and had heard sad civiliant eams on the sidelines at their practice say, "God, what I would give to be as young and strong and healthy as one of those."

There must be a lesson in this synposis of the three big intersectional football games of the past week.

To the student of football it is obvious. The East is behind the times. It still makes a king of the line buck.

But to the gent who wrote that the Pacific Coast is not a natural football sector there is another lesson.

It is come Wast and one of the line buck.

It is, come West, quidnunc, and complete your education.

NEW STANFORD FLASH

THE reporters all say that Lud Frentrup, the Berkeley boy, outCagled Mr. Christian Keener Cagle on that 64-yard dash to Stanford's final touchdown in New York the other day.

That's good news to Stanford men who are perfectly aware of the fact that without Frentrup and Simkins in the line-up in the second half of the "big game" with California the Bears in all probability would have emerged victorious.

Frentrup combined with Simkins to save the day for the Cards

Again, Steponovich did not run 30 yards to a score following an intercepted pass. The play started on Notre Dame's 28-yard line. Niemiec faded back twelve yards to pass, the ball was knocked over his head by Steponovich, who caught it as it came down, and ran approximately 12 yards to a touchdown.

It is a strange if not unprecedented season when such ordinarily mighty machines as Yale, Michigan and Notre Dame each suffer the humiliation of four defeats. Yet they were only the main victims in the surge that at some time or another upset nearly every major team.

Every eleven in the Big Ten met at least one defeat during the season, so keen was the competition, and Chicago was beaten no less than seven times. Every member of the new Big Six Conference, as well as the Southwestern Conference, also suffered at least one reverse. Only Utah survived in the Rocky Mountain Conference zone and the Indians were tied twice. One after another the eastern favorites were knocked off, except Boston College.

CADETS STOPPED Army's streak was stopped by Notre Dame and the Cadets were finally crushed by Stanford. Carnegie swooped along unbeater until it struck the fierce charge of New York University, which on that day at Pittisburgh, looked like the most formicable force in the East. Yet a wee: later it was drubbed by Oregon State. The Navy dropped its first three games before upsetting Pansylvania, which otherwise turned in one of the best records in this section.

FOUR ON TOP

So far as the records of major colleges go, only four can boast spotlect slates. Boston College, the only team neither beaten nor ted in the East, and Detroit, enjoying the same distinction in the Middle West, share this honor with the southern pair, Florida and Georgia Tech.

Illinojs, in a race decided on the last day, successfully defended the Big Ten championship. Georgia Tech appears likely to stay at the top of the Southern Conference, even if forced to share the leadership with Florida or perhaps Tennessee. All three of these southern teams are still in the running.

The spread of radio hook-ups for big games throughout the country failed to cut down the attendance. In addition to the record-breaking outpouring of 122,000 at Boldier Field on October 13 for the Navy-Notre Dame game, the East reached new high marks with crowds of 86,000 filling the Yankee Stadium in New York for each of the Army's battles with Notre Dame and Stanford. Throngs of close to 30,000 or more witnessed spectacles at Ohio State and Michigan while 90,000 saw the Stanford-California game at Berkeley and 80,000, the Southeert California-Notre Dame contest at Los Angeles. In the Southwest, a new record was set by the crowd of 45,000 for the game in which Texas clinched the sectional title defeating the Texas Aggles. ing the Texas Aggles.

Constantly we are finding new and better ways of doing things

THE new Ford was a good car when it was first introduced. It is a better car today. Constantly we are finding new and better ways of doing things. Ceaselessly, untiringly, our engineers are working for the improvement of the car. Every new idea that seems to promise advancement is studied and tested in every conceivable way.

Not only in the laboratory, but out on the road in actual running. As soon as we are sure of its value we put it into the car.

The result is an automobile that is always new. There is no such thing as saving improvements for a yearly model designed to speed up sales or capture a passing fancy.

No matter when you buy a new Ford—in January, May, August or December—you know that it embodies every latest development that has proved sound and good.

You know more than this. You know that in design, materials and workmanship it is the best car that can possibly be made at a low price. The deciding thought behind every move is not sales or profits—but "What will give the most service to the public?"

Our whole effort is toward simplicity—to give you complete, well-rounded performance with the least amount of machinery and without sacrificing quality anywhere along the line. You cannot make a complicated car at a low price without cutting corners somewhere.

The new Ford is a truly great car because it brings you a proved, sensible balance of every essential feature of an automobile. No one part has been over-developed at the expense of another.

You get remarkable acceleration and smoothness at all speeds. You get speed of 55 to 65 miles an hour. You get uncommon power and hill-climbing ease. You get reliability and economy of operation that will save you many dollars in the up-keep of your car.

You get more than this ... a fully enclosed, silent six-brake system—four Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers—Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield—the full and immediate advantage of many improvements developed exclusively by the Ford Motor Company.

Arrange now to see the new Ford and know the thrill of driving it. Judge it not only on acceleration, power and speed, but also on safety, comfort, ease of control, reliability, economy—on its long life and the security of its trade-in value.

You will know then that today, more truly than ever before, there is nothing quite like the new Ford in design, quality and price.

WIFE WINS FREEDOM

Divorce Granted After Eigh Years of Married Life

After eighteen years of married life, during which they reared a family, Mrs. Eula E. Burns ap-peared before Superior Judge Tappaan yesterday and obtained a di-vorce from Hubert L. Burns. Cruelvorce from Hubert L. Burns. Cruelty was the accusation made by Mrs. Burns.

The wife testified that during the month of June, 1927, she and her husband operated a grocery store; that her husband refused to give her money to supply her with the necessities of life, so one day she took money out of the cash register to buy things for the home. This, she said, so enraged her husband that he called the police and attempted to have her arrested.

Mr. and Mrs. Burns were married at Newark, Ark, on December 3, 1909.

That charming young actree for the following sound and the lucky girl, we learned yesterday. She has been borrowed from Pathe to play the more important of the two feminine leads in the De Mille picture, which is called "Dynamite, and the story for which was written by Jeanle Macpherson. The name of the role is Marcia, and she will portray an ultra-modern society wife.

Miss Lombard, originally a Mack Sennett graduate, has climbed upward rapidly during the past two years. Her excellent work in Pox's "Me, Gangster," won her a contract with Pathe, and since signing with that beganization she has appeared in "Power" with William Boyd, "Show Folks" and "Ned McCobb's Daughter."

Miss Lombard and Conrad Nagel are the only parts so far definitely cast in the De Mille picture.

From what little we can glean concerning the story, it appears that it will hart back in its quality to the stores of social life like "Saturday Night," which formerly placed De Mille nigh in the popular favor.

Grass Skirts Do Not a Hula

If there is a hint of profess yarn, that Miss Compson was ever a professional dancer.

She learned to do the hula when she visited Hawaii on a location trip several years ago, from a native girl whom she employed as a maid. Miss Compagn has made several trips to Hawaii since, and on each occasion has spent hours with this same girl, who is one of the island's best native dancers.

who is one of the island's best native dancers.

Miss Compson's grass-skirt costume which she wears in the picture is also a product of the Hawaian Islands. It belongs to her and is but one of numerous colorful Pacific-island dresses that she owns. She saved the First National costuming department considerable trouble, when it sought a costume for her role in "The Barker" by producing one of her own.

"The hula dance itself is a series of the most graceful gestures possible," Miss Compson declares. "It has been rudely interpreted on the American stage and in side shows. It is a dance of perfect rhythm and, if properly performed, not suggestive."

Versatility is the most important feature in the career of a motion-picture player. Betty Bronson, who plays the leading role in "Compan-ionate Marriage" at the Criterion Theater, believes. "Playing the same kind of role successfully for any length of time means disaster," she Il be conspicuously present at the premiere of the Hammerstein operetta this evening. The popular musical drama is making its return to the local boards.

Henry Duffy has chosen George
M. Cohan's comedy hit, "So This at El Capitan Thester. This comedy, which was written by Cohan in collaboration with Arthur Goodrich, will follow "The Shannons of Broadway," coming in the 16th inst.

have completed a run of twelve

The cast of "So This Is London" will be headed by Edmund Breese in his original role of the American father, and Lawrence Grant, the prominent English stage and screen actor. Breese is considered one of the finest character players in the country. He became a star in "The Llon and the Mouse." He also has starred in "The Third Degree." Today, "The Earth," "Why Marry?" The Far Market" and many other plays, and has created numerous character roles in motion pictures.

Grant will fill the important role of Sir Percy Beauchamp in "So This Is London," the part he created for the Chicago production of the Cohan comedy. Grant's last stage appearance in Los Angeles was in "Mid-Channel" at the Belasco several months ago.

The rest of the cast is now being chosen and rehearsals will start at once under the direction of Edwin H. Curtis.

Stage Talent Augments Bill

The question of whether or not the public is interested as to the selection of a director to guide a star in the making of a picture has always been a moot one. However, in so far as Richard Wallace, is concerned, not a few people have revealed that they give him some recognition at least.

When it was announced recently that Wallace had been secured by B. P. Schulberg of Paramount to direct the noted French comedian, Maurice Chevalier, in his first American screen production, "The Innocents of Paris," almost immediately thereafter books on "How to Speak French," literature describing surefire methods of inculcating French in a few lessons and letters from French scholars in Hollywood, anxious to teach the director the art of speaking volubly the foreign language, were received by him.

However, Wallace wants it to be known that Chevalier speaks the American language perfectly, understands "dough-boy" French distinctly and is going to appear in a talking picture.

The new play, "Brothers," by Herbert Ashton, opened last week in Brooklyn and was received as a sure-fire hit by the eastern reviewers, it is reported. Lytell has a unique double role in it.

"On Trial" is in its final two weeks at Warner Brothers, as are Larry Ceballos's stage revue, "Victor Herbert Hits," and Flo Lewis in a Vitaphone short subject. The last showings of the present bill at Warners will take place the 16th inst.

"Sunrise." William Fox's picturesque film special, featuring Jannings and featuring Florence Vidor, Lewis Stone and Neil Hamilton, will close its engagement at the Tower Theater Priday.

"The Patriot" has been called Jannings's greatest dramatic effort. The character star portrays the Czar Paul, the Emperor who lived in such constant fear of his subjects that he built a fortress palace to keep himself asfe.

No words can adequately describe the tremendous appeal as it is mirrored on the screen in this production.

Wisdom From the Trees

The Liberia and Sierra Leone, in Northern Africa, there is a small element of the residents who devote themselves to a rather uncanny life in the forest and so devotedly that they become part of the forest, entering into its moods as much as the very trees themselves. In fact, they claim to consort with the treea By watching them and studying them and by constant association with one particular tree, they claim that there is an interchange of thought and sympathy through which these persons are enabled to ascerdain information often of a very advanced nature. A few years ago it is recorded that one of these persons visited an American representing some industrial interests and told him of the sale of a great tract of land in the vicinity and gave him the mame of the man who would come to take charge. Just out of curiosity a note was made of the name and the men was properly witnessed, and four months later the prediction turned out to be absolutely correct in every particular. This forest lore is handed down to relatives.
